

Dispute Between Union And Hotelkeepers Continues

Demand Increased Wages And Cost-of-Living Bonus; Saturday's Sales Only Slightly Below Normal.

The bartenders' strike continues. The hotelmen are doing their own bartending and figure they will continue to do so. One bar started a cash and carry service—your carry your own from the bar. Business continues good, even though the regular beverage dispensers are "resting." The working man will have his beer, strike or no strike.

A meeting of the Pass Hotel Operators and members of the Dispensers' Union was held Wednesday evening, December 18. A union representative stated that the meeting had been called to further discuss the demands of the Beer Dispensers' Union which were still a minimum $28.50 per week, plus war bonus.

The suggestion to defer the discussions for thirty days in view of the holiday season was refused by the union.

Another union spokesman stated that they had had enough of postponements and now must have a definite reply to their demands. If these demands were not accepted they would act as they deemed most advisable.

It was pointed out that wages could not be increased without the permission of the National War Labour Board under the provisions of P.C. 8253.

A union spokesman stated they were entirely familiar with the provisions of P.C. 8253 but that made no difference. Also they refused to accept the Drumheller agreement previously offered because that was the minimum contractual wage scale for Dispensers in the province, entered into by duress in the slack time of 1937.

Upon the suggestion of the Dispensers' Union representatives a ten minute recess was called to give the hotelmen an opportunity to come to a final decision.

This was agreed to and the following resolution drawn up: "In view of the regulations set forth in Order in Council, P.C. 8253 of the Dominion of Canada, and the penalties for violation of any section of same, we, the Hotel Proprietors of the Crows' Nest Pass feel that we cannot increase wages without the permission of the National War Labour Board.

"We therefore suggest that the officials of the Beer Dispensers' Union immediately get in touch with the officials of the National War Labour Board to secure the necessary permissions outlined in Section 11 of the said P.C. 8253.

Curling Club Will Not Operate During 1941-42

Lateness of Season And Condition of Arena Main Factors In Decision; Will Endeavor to Move Arena to Park During 1942.

The local curling club, for the second successive year, will not operate. This was the decision of half a dozen members who attended a meeting of the club on Sunday.

It would have been possible to get thirteen rinks this year due to a number of new members having signified their intention of joining. However, on Sunday it was thought that by the time a foundation was laid in the arena it would be the new year. Added to that the condition of the arena roof does not make for good curling as the slightest thaw results in water pouring on to the ice as well as into the club room. In past years it has been found that these two factors discourage new members as factors are postponed and the schedule drags.

Decision to not operate the arena means that the C.N.F. bonspiel scheduled for Coleman will be awarded to Bellevue.

It was decided to hold a meeting next spring and discuss ways by which a new curling arena could be built in the park immediately north of the open air skating rink. Tentative plans call for three sheets of ice and a club room. In the meantime it is hoped to get an estimate on the approximate cost of such a building.

Children Being Injured By Blairmore Youths at Open Air Rink

The open air skating rink constructed by the council for the enjoyment of children would appear to have become the amusement place for a number of Blairmore youths.

The free skating would appear to attract them since the Blairmore and Coleman arenas are now open for skating. Last week as the result of a lot of horseplay by these youths one local girl was sent crashing into the boards, resulting in a sprained ankle, which caused her much pain for several days and also compelled her to stay on the sidelines for a week.

Questioning reveals that these Blairmore youths are nightly visitors and there is the occasional one from Michel. Steps should be taken immediately to prevent these men from skating on the rink. They are "cheap skates."

Secondary Materials

War has brought about many changes and among them is the increasing importance attached to the salvaging of waste materials. "Junk" once a term used with some derision, has become a foremost factor in our war effort. There are probably few homes in the Dominion which have not been cleared of unused metals and other things which we are asked to save, and there are few householders who do not thriftily save newspapers, rags, fats and bones, for the collectors who doubtless appear regularly for those articles now designated as "salvage."

That these efforts on the part of individuals in all parts of the Dominion must in no small way help in our war effort is apparent when we consider that certain guns can be made entirely of scrap metal, and that the addition of scrap to pure iron increases greatly the production of steel.

The value of paper, cardboard and cartons is also very great. At present thirty-five per cent. of the paper produced in Canada is going into the war effort, and the importance of avoiding waste of any paper or cardboard is very great. Rags, too, are very valuable. Last year four million dollars' worth of rags were imported into Canada for use in ammunition and explosive factories, and in airplane plants, where the necessity of large supplies of rags is essential for cleaning tools and other purposes.

Important Items

Fats and bones also have their part in furthering the war effort. Last year one million dollars' worth of bone products were imported for use in sugar refineries, for fertilizers and other purposes for which it is essential. Fats are used for making glycerine, a very important material in wartime, and in making soap, so that every piece of fat and bone is an important item for defence.

Planes of the Commonwealth Air Training Plan, constantly in our skies, remind us of the need for aluminum. Canadians have cut the domestic consumption of aluminum to one-fortieth of the peace-time level, but when we are told that it takes twenty-eight thousand pounds of aluminum to make a bomber, and eight thousand pounds for a fighter, we know that not a scrap of aluminum must be wasted.

Work Of Sorting

It is interesting to note that the important work of sorting and preparing these materials for their return to the industries where they are required, is aided by an organization of junk dealers of the Dominion. These men have had long experience in sorting metals, papers and other articles into the right class for the purpose to which they are to be put. The value of this work is realized when we learn that there are over a dozen kinds of aluminum alloy, seventy-five kinds of scrap iron and steel and nearly forty types of waste paper. Dealers are experienced in sorting these materials quickly and accurately and their service to the Dominion in this regard is now very great.

Early in 1941 the Minister of National War Services called a meeting to organize these dealers with the object of opening more widely the existing trade channels for the return of secondary materials to Canada's war effort. An association was formed known as the Canadian Institute of Secondary Materials. The newly formed body was given a charter by the Secretary of State and it now works in close co-operation with the Federal Department of Salvage in carrying on the valuable work started in the homes of every community in the Dominion. The importance of this part of our war effort has been emphasized many times, but too much attention cannot be given to its value. In Germany the value of salvaging waste materials has long been recognized, and the people have been compelled to co-operate in this regard. Let us show that by voluntary effort we can help our country to maintain its large production of war materials and to conserve our foreign exchange.

CANADA NEEDS YOU

We see everywhere to-day recruiting posters declaring to the men of our country that "Canada Needs You!" The challenge does not apply only to men wanted for the fighting forces but to every citizen of Canada. To the housewife it says "Canada Needs You" to economize; to the business man to accept restrictions willingly; to the school teacher to train your pupils to become responsible and loyal future citizens; to the factory worker to increase production by efficient work; to every healthy, able-bodied man to be a blood donor.

We all have a part. We still live in a free country. We are still free to listen to any radio station we wish. We are still free to put our nation's need before our personal need. True freedom is not wangling something for ourselves but giving the best that we are and have to our country. Grumbling and criticism about taxes and restrictions are sabotage and undermine our country's strength. Cheerfulness and a willing acceptance of all regulations help to build morale. Canada needs us to be morale-builders where we are—in our homes, in industry, and in every phase of life.

Canada needs each man and woman to so live to-day that they are giving their all spiritually, physically and materially to win the war, and in the winning of it to build for reconstruction. Canada needs you and me—the common people—the twelve million or so of us—to give the sort of teamwork that co-operates with our government to build and maintain that invincible power—a united nation!

Doing Great Work

Achievements Of Engineering Profession In War Effort Are Remarkable

The Dean of the Faculty of Applied Science and Engineering of the University of Toronto lifted the veil slightly to reveal some of the remarkable achievements of the engineering profession in speeding up the Dominion's war effort. While much that has been accomplished cannot be made public as they are strictly war secrets it can be announced that in the machine tool industry its capacity has been increased by more than 800 per cent.

A Generation

The Average Length Of A Generation Placed At Three To A Century

What is the average length of a generation? The question permits of different answers, according to the point of view. If we start with a cohort of 100,000 babies just born and trace them through life, we may regard these as one generation, and their average length of life, which according to present conditions is about 63 years, would then be the length of a generation.

But generations of this kind overlap, because the replacement of each such generation by children begins while the generation is still in being, and the average interval from mother to daughter is about 28 years, from father to son about 33 years. This is what is usually thought and spoken of as the average length of a generation; in round numbers, there are thus three generations to the century.—Metropolitan Life Bulletin.

Won Decoration At Namoss

Commander Stannard Only Living Naval Holder Of Victoria Cross
H.M.S. Ramsey, formerly, the United States destroyer Meade, was in port at Boston recently for the overhaul in 36,000 miles of the North Atlantic patrol, during which her performance has won the respect and admiration of her officers and men.

"We have been through much bad weather, but she has suffered no damage," said her captain, Lieutenant-Commander Richard Stannard only living naval holder of the Victoria Cross.

Others who were awarded that decoration rest in sailors' graves, including Captain Fogarty Fegan of the Jervis Bay, a converted merchantman which stood between a convoy and a German pocket battleship until the Atlantic closed over her guns.

Lieutenant-Commander Stannard received his V.C. for the part he played in the evacuation of Namoss, Norway. When German planes set fire to munitions piled on a jetty, he brought his command, the anti-submarine vessel Arab, in against the structure and fought the flames until they were under control.

With the Arab, a small craft carrying a crew of 50, he took off 2,000 French Chasseurs, in ten trips, and placed them aboard troopships. Then he set up a small fortification ashore and fought off approaching German forces until the evacuation was completed.

Lieutenant-Commander Stannard was the last to leave Namoss. Although considerably damaged, the Arab reached Britain, while four other vessels sank under constant pounding of German air and land bombardment.

In civilian life, Lieutenant-Commander Stannard was chief officer of an Orient Line steamship. He is married and has two young children. His wife drives an ambulance for the American Eagle Squadron in the Royal Air Force.

Beginning To Tell

Industrial Sabotage In Conquered Countries Making Nazis Jumpy

The Nazis were losing their grip and becoming panicky in the face of underground pressure exerted by the conquered peoples of Europe, Jan Masaryk, Foreign Minister of the Czech Government-in-exile, told the press on his arrival in Ottawa. The Huns were slipping, he believed, because they were losing even the German twisted sense of proportion. Skillful and continued industrial sabotage by the Czechs had made the conquerors "jumpy."

Crown Companies

Government Capital Invested In Large Number Of War Enterprises

The Canadian Government, operating 11 Crown companies and with capital invested in a large number of private industries, now holds an unduplicated place in the top rank of world producers of war materials. With the government's investment in private industry to allow expansion for war needs, the companies represent an investment of $582,000,000.

A large part of the machinery would have no peacetime use, munitions and supply department officials say.

Thus the government's place in peacetime industry may not loom so large as a casual survey would indicate.

Largest of the purely government undertakings is in the chemical and explosive field where the Allied War Supplies Corp. operates 21 plants with more than 30,000 employees.

Small Arms Ltd., with between 1,400 and 1,500 workers, is rapidly increasing production of rifle, bayonets and scabbards, with an expansion program that provides for Bren gun production.

Wartime Merchant Shipping Ltd. has laid keels for 32 ships and on Nov. 30 had launched seven. In a plant created by Research Enterprises Ltd. some 2,200 workers are turning out special electrical equipment and secret devices.

Federal Aircraft Ltd., another Crown company, reported a large number of Anson planes delivered with November production double that of October.

Other Crown companies control the nation's supply of strategic materials—rubber, wool and silk. Still another company supervises the purchase of machine tools for war industries and has made purchases well in excess of $60,000,000.

SO YOU'RE GOING TO DO A PLAY?

And it is to be comedy or farce as a foil for the taut nerves of to-day's life. Be sure it is rustic and bright with no long pauses between speeches. Now for the play. Is it one act or a three act?

"We want a whole evening's performance, and so will have to have a three act play," you reply. "Why? Have you ever tried three one act plays?" "Three! In one small community," you ask. "Oh you don't know rural communities. Mary Ellen!" Maybe not, but Richard, in Northern Saskatchewan, entered three one act plays in the Class B Drama festival at North Battleford last year, and won several awards. They felt that this was a chance for many people to take part, and give a variety in their entertainment. What's more they did their plays at various surrounding towns, before a number of actors in the afternoon, and came into the festival with great confidence gained by a number of public appearance. They used the whole stage as if it was their own front room, and after all isn't that what the stage is. The fourth wall is removed so that the audience can peek in on what is going on and enjoy it with the actors. Sometimes when the play is building to a good climax, the audience is so tense that they do not move until the problem on the stage is solved and then with a sign of relief they relax and sit back again in their seats. When you feel sympathy running between the audience and those on the stage then you know without anyone telling you that your show "has rung the bell" and that each show of the three on the programme has been worthwhile. And you the sponsor have given a large number of people a chance of using an escape mechanism in the form of a play for their taut nerves for twelve rehearsals when they lived someone else's life and enjoyed it. Comments may be sent to Mary Ellen, Box 326, Regina. But enuf said this time. See you next week.

Health Is Important

In Time Of War Health Of Everyone Is Vital Necessity

With Canada at war the health of everyone is of vital importance. Dr. L. B. Pett of the federal nutrition department and secretary of the Canadian Council of Nutrition said at a Toronto conference called to consider instituting a nutrition program and possible appointment of a provincial nutritionist by the Ontario government. Fifty representatives conferred under chairmanship of Dr. J. T. Phair, chief medical officer, Ontario, health department.

Great Britain, said Dr. Pett, has found in order to maintain adequate production they must maintain nutrition for war workers.

Must Be Saved

Superior Of National Salvage Campaign Stresses Need For Waste Paper

William Knightly, supervisor of the national salvage campaign, said that because of a shortage of waste paper, Canadian mills making paper-board were running on a "hand-to-mouth" basis and, unless the situation improves, "may be forced to slow down operations."

He issued a statement saying that from every ton of paper produced for consumption in Canada less than 25 per cent. is salvaged while 75 per cent. is wasted and that the public could assist materially by co-operating with the national salvage campaign and saving every scrap of paper. One ton of waste paper will produce material for 1,500 shell containers, 9,000 shell fuse component parts, 47,000 boxes for small arms ammunition, 3,000 boxes for aero cannon shells, or 1,000 packing cases for two-pounder shells, the statement said.

Officer Was Puzzled

Made Parking Arrangements For What He Thought Were Tanks

The C.O. of a regiment in the Middle East was puzzled when he received notification to make arrangements for the arrival of: "Carriers, general utility, one-wheeled, sixty."

He thought it must be a new type of small wheeled tank and made the necessary parking arrangements. Eventually he received 60 wheelbarrows.

Hitler's Armies On The Defensive Both East And West

London.—Publicly recognizing the cold difficulties and torments suffered by the retreating German armies in Russia, Hitler announced he is taking over personal direction of the Nazi land forces, and he immediately appealed to his soldiers—"fanatically," as he put it—to wait out the winter for new arms and troops.

Hitler first announced in a surprise move that he had replaced Field Marshal Gen. Walther von Brauchitsch as commander of the armies.

Then he addressed his soldiers, speaking to them, he said as a bitterly experienced, wounded, almost blinded, old soldier; as one who knows the horrors of war.

He said intonation led him to his fateful decision.

The dramatic announcements, including the hold-fast exhortation to his troops, contained the harsh admission that the great Red army offensive of recent weeks is hurting Germany to the core—and on the home front specifically.

Hitler either is despondent or is feinting, in the opinion of observers here. It seemed he either fears trouble on the home front or is planning some big new move against the democracies—perhaps both.

On the face of his pronouncements, Germany will be on the defensive—both east and west—until spring. Hitler's replacement of von Brauchitsch after the German reverses in Russia came as the most sensational step since the reorganization of the German army in 1938.

It came, too, just one day short of an even six months after the start of the war against Russia, a war which has turned in recent weeks into a German retreat along the entire front. It is a retreat cautiously called strategic by the Germans, but hailed by the Russians as an historic rout comparable to Napoleon's retreat from Moscow in 1812.

Germany from now to spring will fight a "defensive" war, Hitler said, not only against Russia, but also on the western front, which "will be strengthened from Kirkenes (Norway) to the Spanish frontier."

Speaking to his army with a note almost pleading in tone, Hitler promised his men better conditions, better equipment and "fresh units" to be formed.

Referring to the Russians as "the most dangerous enemy of all time" and acknowledging that the campaign in the east had "exceeded all past notions," Hitler told his soldiers that he himself knows just how it feels when the army "bears the might of the struggle."

Yugoslav Resistance

London.—King Peter of Yugoslavia said that his nation does not regret the decision to fight the Axis even though "masses of my people are being hanged or shot daily and hundreds of villages and towns are in ruins." The king, who is here with his government, addressed a national defence committee luncheon.

Fire Destroys Castle

Galston, Scotland.—Historic 12th century London castle, where the Treaty of Union with England was signed in 1707, has been destroyed by fire. The castle was known as the "Windsor of Scotland" and was the home of Countess London.

Granted Power To Make Adjustments In Price Control

Ottawa.—Prices administrators were granted the power to adjust manufacturers' and wholesalers' price ceilings under an order issued by the wartime prices and trade board.

Any adjustment is subject to the "rigid maintenance" of the retail price ceiling.

By the same order the administrators were authorized to control the amount of goods that may be sold to any commercial buyer.

"This is designed to prevent any retailer or other commercial buyer from agreeing to pay higher prices to manufacturers in order to get an unreasonably large share of the available goods," a board statement said.

In its experience with price ceiling operations to date, the board said it had found that price ceiling adjustments within an industry or

Technicians Arrive

Group Arrives In Canada For Government Work

Ottawa.—A number of arrivals, including a group of technicians who would say nothing more than that they came on government work, are in Canada along with a small group of fleet airmen who came here for training and several naval officers and ratings.

Women, dressed in smart dresses and suits instead of the uniforms worn by many British women coming to Canada, were in majority in the group, but they proved their ability to keep information to themselves by declining to say why they came.

Representatives from almost every dominion in the empire and several colonies were among the navy men. A few had been active service, like Thomas Gummel of Portsmouth who has had two ships sunk under him since the war broke out. One of his ships was lost at Crete and he floated for seven hours in the waters around the island before being picked up.

Life Saving Material

Supplies Of Kapok Are Ordered Frozen In Canada

Ottawa.—Canadian supplies of kapok were "frozen" by the munitions department.

Air force fliers, forced down at sea, are kept afloat by the buoyancy of their flying suits in the lining of which is placed the life-preserving material called kapok. Most of it comes from the Netherlands East Indies and to assure that enough kapok is made available for Canada's and Allied airmen, and for the thousands of life jackets and floats needed by the navy and army, all supplies in Canada were "frozen" in an order issued by Alan H. Williamson, controller of supplies.

The order prohibits any sales except to the federal government and instructs dealers and processors to report the kind and weight of all kapok they have on hand and on order.

Illegal Work

Black Market Food Dealers Being Prosecuted In Britain

London.—Food Minister Lord Woolton announced severe new penalties against "black market" food dealers as Christmas shoppers complained of high prices and scarcity of delicacies.

He said the government proposed to allow the courts to charge offenders three times the value of the products sold in the black market or three times the price at which the food actually was illegally sold.

The ministry of food announced, 3,130 black market prosecutions were begun this year and 2,887 successfully ended.

For Seaman's Club

Halifax.—Officers and men of H.M.C.S. Skeena contributed $1,000 for furniture for the lobby of the Allied Merchant Seamen's Club which opened here recently; it was announced.

Contract Being Filled

Requirements For First Egg Shipment To Britain Have Been Met
Ottawa.—Agriculture department officials said they are "over the first hump" in the provision of 30,000,000 dozen eggs to the United Kingdom.

They said the list of the storage egg exports for the season have left shipping points. These exports represented 230,000 cases or 6,900,000 dozen eggs, and were required for shipment in September, October and November.

To fulfil this part of the contract it was necessary to requisition supplies of storage eggs, but now the requirements had been met, officials said.

About 30,000 cases represented the peak of storage egg exports in the past.

Next task of the department is to obtain 170,000 cases or 5,100,000 dozen fresh eggs for shipment by next Feb. 28. Supplies for this part of the contract are expected to start moving at once, British Columbia eggs will come in first and then those of Ontario, with some from Alberta likely to appear in January.

Asking For Grain

Boston.—A report from a former Greek official that starvation was causing 5,000 deaths weekly in Athens and Piraeus, coupled with an appeal that grain be sent to that Axis-occupied country, has been turned over to the Red Cross. The American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions announced.

WHEAT KING

An order for commercial seed to sow his five-acre field in 1932 came back in registered seed to William Miller of Edmonton. That's why Miller is the world's wheat king. Miller won his title at the 42nd annual international exposition at Chicago, and that's the explanation he gave for winning it. It weighed 70 pounds to the bushel and won the title. There's nothing modern about Mr. Miller, either. He cut his sample with a scythe, hand-bound it and threshed it with a flail in primitive method. But it was the best wheat in Chicago. Because of a seed company's mistake.

The United Kingdom is the greatest timber importing country in the world.

GOVERNOR-GENERAL OF DUTCH EAST INDIES

Japanese Air Force Proven To Have Been Underrated

Washington.—Two weeks of warfare in the Pacific have shown that many people were wrong on one subject—the Japanese air force was definitely underrated.

Always something of a mystery as to size and types of planes used, the Japanese air force has been a potent weapon so far in the fighting but it has yet to prove that it has fighter planes and long-range bombers comparable to British and American designs.

So far, the Japanese air force, which operates under army command and is not a separate military unit like the Royal Canadian Air Force, has struck some telling blows. It has destroyed two of Britain's most powerful warships, the battleship Prince of Wales and the battle cruiser Repulse, and six United States naval vessels including the battleship Arizona which were lying in Pearl Harbor in the Hawaiian Islands.

Reports from Malaya, the Philippines and Hawaii indicate Japanese bombing has been extremely accurate but they also emphasize that British and American fighters are vastly superior in combat with Japanese bombers.

It has been estimated here that the strength of the Japanese air force is between 5,000 and 6,000 planes of all types. Japan, being essentially a maritime nation, has at least seven and perhaps 13 aircraft carriers, generally smaller than British and American designs. Some of the Japanese carriers accommodate only 30 planes, compared to 65-75 for the Ark Royal and 100 for the U.S.S. Enterprise.

The Japanese have not developed any distinctive aircraft types but have been content to work with copies or variations of German, British and American planes and engines. Recently, German influence has been very noticeable in Tokyo and there is reason to believe the Japanese air force has received instruction and assistance from Nazi Germany.

Plot Was Thwarted

Germans Fail To Keep Bolivian Metals From United States

Buenos Aires.—A German plot to halt the export of Bolivian metals to the United States by sabotaging rail lines running to the Chilean ports of Arica and Antofagasta has been thwarted according to information received here.

It also was learned that the Bolivian government had imposed a rigid censorship but whether this was connected with the reported Nazi plot was not clear.

Bolivia produces considerable tin and lead all of which is going to the United States under a purchase agreement.

New Members Appointed

Six Added To War Charities Funds Advisory Board

Ottawa.—Reorganization of the national war charities funds advisory board and its expansion from 10 to 16 members, has been announced by War Services Minister Thorson.

Members of the board include T. S. Dixon, Vancouver; W. T. Henry, Edmonton; J. J. Leddy, Saskatoon.

The advisory board was set up in December, 1940, with C. L. Burton of Toronto, as chairman, to advise the minister of national war services in the national drive for funds and how the funds collected from the public should be expended. All members serve without remuneration.

Red Army May Use Nazi Tactics On The Germans

Moscow.—Soviet commanders were urged to take the risk of throwing out many long spearheads to trap and destroy the retreating Germans as the Red army reported continuing advances had broken off invasion salients on both flanks of the Great front of Moscow.

The official army newspaper Red Star called for turning the typically Nazi tactics on the Germans, telling commanders to disregard the orthodox slogging of frontal attack and send speed troops out ahead to encircle and cut up the foe unit by unit.

This method already has been used brilliantly in the recapture of Shkolin and Aleksin in the Tula area, and as a Soviet information bureau told of new gains there, Red Star called for its extension in a campaign that is still mobile despite the terrible winter weather.

On the northwest front, around Kalinin, the communiqué also reported steady progress, with 24 more villages occupied in one day and new destructive blows to German equipment and manpower.

With both north and south danger, points thus neutralized and the Germans sacrificing territory in order to save their own necks, the Red army was able to throw new power into its counter-offensive against the Nazis directly west of Moscow.

Military despatches said the army of Gen. Govorov, operating in the heart of the Moscow front, had recaptured 200 settlements and that his vanguard was approaching Ruzsa, about 60 miles west of Moscow and just northeast of Moshaisk.

Thus the offensive became general along the whole Moscow front. On the flanks, west of Kalinin in the north and Tula on the south, the Red army was continuing its pursuit of the Germans.

A fierce drive was pressed against the Finns and Germans in the northwest, the Russians striking in the Novogorod sector south of Leningrad after rolling the Germans back 45 miles from Tikhvin and freeing Leningrad from the threat of encirclement.

(British reports said that the Finnish line between lakes Omega and Ladoga was smashed and that Leningrad's 1,000,000 defenders had joined in the attack on the Finns.)

In the southwest, 80 more settlements fell in the relentless push which began with the recapture of Rostov and has proceeded westward above the shores of the sea of Azov. (British reports said the Germans had lost 6,000 men of a Viennese infantry division in fighting near Kharkov, German-occupied steel centre.)

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Confidence in Victory

We commence the year 1942 with renewed confidence in ultimate victory in the struggle now engulfing the world. Particularly after the British Prime minister's address to the Congress of the United States, and the reception accorded him, is the outcome viewed with greater promise of success than it was a year ago. The road may be hard, long and full of trials, but with the unity now existing between the two greatest democratic nations and countries sympathetic to the Allied cause, it matters not how long the war may last, there can be only one result, and that is victory for the cause of Democracy.

The Power of Oratory

Britain's prime minister can lift his audiences to the heights of enthusiasm and inspiration. His utterances are based, not on impulse of the moment, but on careful study covering years of experience in a "not uneventful" life. His speeches in Parliament over the last few years warned the British nation of what was coming, but he was not heeded except by a few. He warned, very tactfully, the United States early in this war, of the course events would follow. He warned the smaller countries of Europe of the wrath to come if they did not unite for self-protection. Every one of his predictions in the world struggle has proved true. But he does not cast recriminations over the failures to take warning. He carries the people to new vistas of hope. His language is couched in simple terms, so that all can understand, and he carries conviction in every sentence. The most polished and forthright propagandist of modern days he is undoubtedly the man of the hour. By his dogged determination he has upheld the morale of the British people through their darkest hours. Historians will record him as one of the truly great in world history.

Only One Issue—Win the War

Domestic differences of opinion, including vision-ary dreams of monetary reform and other political screeds, pale into insignificance in comparison with the great struggle to uphold Democracy. Labor in Great Britain is making sacrifices which are very necessary to win the war, while we in Canada are troubled by Laor agitators whose selfish ambitions take precedence over all other matters of national import. Once Japan declared war on the United States, there was an almost solidifying of labor to unite in the struggle for maximum production. Three shifts a day and seven days a week is the rule in war industries, and almost every industry is now engaged directly or indirectly in the war.

Christmas Business Was Good

Every branch of retail business reports business better than it was a year ago. The increased circulation of money as a direct result of war is responsible. This should not blind us to the fact that it is wise to conserve some of the earnings of workers, for experience teaches that after a period of war prosperity there is bound to be a slump. A methodical form of investment or savings in war savings certificates, which not only help to finance the war but will prove of benefit, to those who purchase them, when the war ends. Any person who spends everything as he earns it usually finds himself in a tight spot when the period of prosperity ends. Then he has to fall back on relief, the cost of which has to be borne by the more thrifty class of tax-payers. Make it a rule, if you are not already a steady purchaser, to put aside a small amount each pay-day as a share towards helping to win the war. It is a people's war—and that includes everyone.

It Was Holiday Week

The missing of an issue last week, the regular publication day falling on Thursday, December 25, called forth some protests from those who eagerly look for the local news. Our limited staffs in Macleod and Coleman had been working at high pressure right up to Christmas Eve, therefore it was impossible to turn out another paper on Christmas Day. Besides, advertisers were too busy to even think of writing copy for their space, and as printers must have holidays to recuperate and enjoy relaxation, it was decided to take off the balance of the week.

With this issue we extend good wishes for the new year. We enter it with renewed determination to do our part in the national effort towards winning the war. Sacrifices will have to be made; we may have to work longer hours, but far, far better to work as free men than as slaves of a totalitarian government under which people are merely serfs of the State.

"We must be willing to pay a price for freedom, for no price that is ever asked for it is half the cost of doing without it."—H. L. Mencken.

The Last Week Of 1941---

Ends another momentous year in the history of the world. Britain, as the nerve centre of the great Commonwealth of Nations, had fought alone during the first six months against the Axis forces seeking her destruction. To day the mighty Soviet Union and the powerful United States stand Allied to her side. Victory for the forces fighting against aggression must be assured.

BUDGET MODE IS SLENDERING
By Anne Adams

Calling all budgeters... calling all larger figures... Pattern 4777 is designed just for you by Anne Adams! First of all, it has that practical front buttoning that is such a favorite for easy laundering and also gives you trim up-and-down lines. Then it is fitted just where you need it, through the bust and the waistline—by the bias side sections of the bodice. They are repeated in the back. The effect is even more stunning in checks or plaids. Make a short-sleeved version for work, in a brisk cotton with perhaps a contrast collar; another long-sleeved frock in wool for all-around wear. The Sewing Instructor illustrates every step in finishing this pattern quickly. Order it now and join the Sew-Your-Own Brigade!

Pattern 4777 is available in women's sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Sizes 36 takes 4½ yards 35 inch fabric.

Send twenty cents (20c) in coins (stamps cannot be accepted) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly: Size, Name, Address and Style Number and send orders to the Anne Adams Pattern Dept., Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 175 McDermot Ave. E., Winnipeg, Man.

Knowledge Theoretical

Designer Of Airplanes Has Never Been Up In One

Belonging to the "Believe It or Not" class is the fact that the man who designed the first Hurricane plane and the subsequent improvements, Sydney Camm, has never been up in one. He is solely a designer, and does not know how to fly except from theoretical knowledge. At any rate he has not got a pilot's license. But he produced one of the two types of planes—the other is the Spitfire—that literally saved Britain and the British Empire in the summer and fall of last year.

Sydney Camm built model planes as a hobby when he was a boy. During the First Great War he was associated with T. O. M. Sopwith, whose Pups, Camels and Snipes were the best British models at that time. He also learned much from late Harry G. Hawker, the Australian-born airman who, with Captain Grieve, attempted to fly the Atlantic in May, 1919, before Alcock and Brown made their successful crossing a few weeks later. Hawker and Grieve coming down in mid-Atlantic and being fortunate enough to be picked up by a Danish ship. Camm had a hand in the design of about 80 Sopwith and Hawker models before he designed his first Hurricane in 1935. The Hurricane at once demonstrated that it was the fastest plane in the world, but production was slow. They cost more money than the company could afford to spend, and the Government was chary about making advances. It was not until February, 1938, when a young pilot climbed into a Hurricane at Edinburgh and came down 48 minutes later at London, 327 miles away, at an average speed of 408.7 miles an hour that the Government was convinced and armed the air force with Camm machines.

The designing of a modern plane is a tremendous business. When Camm produced his first Hurricane he had made 4,000 separate blueprints. He is still on the job improving Hurricanes, for, as he remarked to an interviewer the other day, as soon as it takes to the air and proves its worth he regards it as "a rotten old machine" and forthwith studies how to make a better one. And he thinks he has a better one in the Typhoon.

The name Sydney Camm is quite unknown to the world. If he produces a new model it should surely be named the Camm so that he should be dragged from obscurity to the fame which he deserves. ST. Thomas Times-Journal.

Valuable Books

Harvard's Collection Of Rare Books To Be Stored In Event Of Danger

Harvard's rare and valuable books will never have their corners torn off by a bomb. If the university library staff has anything to do with it. After the invasion of France, head librarian Keyes DeW. Metcalf began looking for a spot which would be isolated and inconspicuous enough for the storing of the greater part of Harvard's treasured volumes. The cache was found, but its location is a deep secret.

Enough lumber to make thousands of boxes to store the books in has been set aside and will not be used until the emergency arises. Library authorities estimate that 120 boxes can be made and packed in a day.

Metcalf says it will take only 24 hours to move out the most valuable parts of the collection. "Of course," he says, "where we have some four and a half million volumes, we can't ship them all. Only the treasures will go."

Among these rare books are some Shakespeare quartos which are worth $100,000. There are also some valuable collections of historical and literary manuscripts which are irreplaceable.

APPROVED BY THE ROYAL CANADIAN AIR FORCE

CLAIMED to be the fastest medium bomber in the world the Bristol Beaufighter is designed for rapid production. It can be used as a bomber, torpedo carrier and mine layer. These aircraft are being turned out in large numbers in Australia.

There are two 1,065 Bristol air-cooled engines and the aircrew has a controllable pitch. The wing span is 57 feet, 10 inches, and the length is 44 feet, two inches. The speed is about 300 miles per hour.

There is a power-operated gun turret on top of the fuselage and there are forward machine-guns. The crew of four is made up of a pilot, gunner, navigator and radio operator.

China Fills $1,000 Bomb Hole For About Two Dollars

The Japanese have again begun to bomb the Burma Road and American airmen flying American fighting planes but operating not under their own but under the Chinese flag are said to be going to protect it. Meanwhile the Chinese say that it costs Japan $1,000 to make a hole in the road with a bomb and it costs them only two dollars on the average, to fill in the hole.

They will be attached as an auxiliary force to the German army there constructing roads and bridges. ## Explanations and Comments

The Promise of Christ, John 14:1-3. "Let not your heart be troubled," Jesus bade his sorrowing disciples in his farewell talk with them. It was not mere exhortation to keep up their courage, no comfortable optimism that he bade them hold, for he gave them a reason for untroubled hearts, told them how they could face the dark days ahead, when he added, "Believe in God, believe also in me." In spite of everything they must trust in the goodness of God and their Lord's loving thought of them.

"Twice the Master himself who said it."

"Facing an hour of darkness."

"That they could not understand."

Separation was at hand, but there would be a reunion. By going away Jesus would make ready for his followers abiding places in his Father's house. The Greek word translated "mansions" means "places of shelter," and the margin of the Bible has the translation "abiding places." "If it were not so, I would have told you, for I go to prepare a place for you." The belief in a future life is a true one, for were it otherwise he would have disillusioned the minds of his followers.

As there is no uncertainty about his going, so there is none about his coming: "I come again and will receive you unto myself." "I come again" refers not so much to his coming at the end of the world, or in a great crisis of history, or at the death of believers, as to the progressive influence of the Holy Spirit in his Church, preparing the way for the final and completed union of Christ and his people which he predicts in the succeeding part of the verse, that where I am there ye may be also" (New Century Bible).

Northern Manitoba

The Pas One Of The Greatest Potential Hunting Grounds

T. C. Main, president of Ducks Unlimited (Canada) sees The Pas, Man., 500 miles northwest of Winnipeg as the "greatest hunters' headquarters in Western Canada," providing water levels of the area are brought back to normal.

The Pas area "is one of the greatest potential hunting grounds on this continent with fish, ducks and geese plentiful," Mr. Main said. "This country is great but I do not think the people here realize the value it has as a central point for hunters and fishermen." He urged the Board of Trade at The Pas to build up necessary hunting accommodation to develop northern "color," and to encourage farming of Indian and Metis guide stations.

Declaring Northern Manitoba could be one of the greatest tourist attractions in the Dominion, Mr. Main said, "In my talks, when mention of The Pas is made, I find a large number of interested hunters eager for more details on the north country... details of where and how they can organize hunting parties, the best areas, and the methods of travel. I also meet a number of people who are interested in the north from a scenic angle."

CRIPPLED CHILDREN

There are at least 24,000 crippled children in Canada, Reg. W. Hopper, Executive Secretary of the Ontario Society for Crippled Children, said, and a very high percentage of crippling is preventable.

While it is true that some children are born with deformities, most crippling is a result of such diseases as Infantile Paralysis, Tuberculosis and Rickets. He urged that a greater effort should be made to prevent the 80% of unnecessary crippling.

Probably parents dread Infantile Paralysis more than any other disease. This is largely a hangover from the past when nobody knew that the deformities which often follow this disease could be prevented. Modern medical practice has established the fact that contracture deformities resulting from paralyzed muscles need never exist. A great deal has been learned as a result of the Infantile Paralysis epidemic of 1937. Some 3,000 cases occurred in Ontario in that year. Through the action of the Provincial Department of Health standardized treatment was made available to all. A close follow-up of the results show that cases brought under proper care where the parents give their intelligent co-operation, produced no deformities.

Tuberculosis of bones and joints is a frequent cause of deformity. On the basis of present knowledge, it was explained, Tuberculosis should be wiped out in a generation. All too often, it was said, this disease is carried direct from a tuberculous cow to human beings by means of raw milk. Pasteurization of raw milk consumed by humans will stamp out this important cause of crippling. Ontario already has a compulsory pasteurization law. The incidence in Tuberculosis in Ontario is showing a marked decline year by year.

Another once the important cause of crippling is also rapidly disappearing, Mr. Hopper asserted. The bow legs and hunchbacks so often encountered a generation ago are rare because parents are learning the elementary rules of child hygiene. The most important single factor appears to be the regular use of cod-liver oil daily during the first few years of life. This simple measure has the remarkable effect of enabling children to produce strong and healthy bone structure.

The speaker paid tribute to the excellent health teaching in the schools which is making a new generation more conscious of their own needs.
